Brand New Book. Excerpt from Marketing Activities, Vol. 4: June 1941 The benefits of plant exploration and introduction are not always immediately forthcoming, of course. This was the case when Frank Meyer, Department of Agriculture plant hunter, became interested in a strain of native spinach while exploring for plants in Manchuria back in 1908. He sent a few packets of the seed to the United States with his plant collections, but the variety proved to have little commercial value.
