Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Television for Children This booklet has been written for you who determine what programs shall be broadcast for children, and who must decide among available filmed programs which series to offer for local sponsorship. It has been written for you, too, whose decisions are even more far reaching in their effects: you who are writing, producing, and directing live and filmed programs that will be repeatedly transmitted over many television stations. Your decisions must necessarily be governed by your own beliefs and your understandings of the children who are your audience, what their interests are, and what you know to be the practical realities of broadcasting as a business. Producers of television for children and parents as well may find it helpful to recognize that they make many assumptions about the child's mind which are purely adult. Their assumptions do not square with the ideas which children actually have about the world. Parents are concerned about the kinds of programs produced and their possible effects upon children's attitudes and moral development.
