Strand Publishing UK Ltd, United Kingdom, 2012. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.A book by Clive Parker-Sharp based on the true life accounts of Nina Brem-Wilson (laced with her inimitable wit), the diaries of her Grandfather Thomas, and interviews with Thomas s sons. The Box is beautiful, bound in leather with raised designs of jungle scenes, elephants eyes bejeweled with precious stones, hand-crafted in a far away African village. Brought to England it becomes a legacy passed through three generations. To open The Box is to unleash an unput-downable bumpy ride of sex, betrayal, zealotry, larceny, and fanaticism. Were Thomas Brem-Wilson and his family blighted, never able to regain the status and glory of their ancestors? Is The Box cursed? A revealing portrait of an African businessman arriving in England and thrown into Victorian high society. Controversy surrounds this black man s marriage to white Jewish music-hall starlet Ettie Cinders, but behind his dandy persona lay religious and erotic obsessions. In his quest for salvation he embarks on a pilgrimage to the vast Zion City sect in Chicago, but it could be his ruin. Thomas Brem-Wilson s family deals with the fallout of his legacy. The inventive lives of his mixed-race offspring expose a Bingo empire, East End gangsters, and two nerve-racking high court trials. His granddaughter Nina Brem-Wilson takes The Box back to Ghana in 1975 retracing Thomas s steps in a fantastical hunt for land and Gold mines. Nina s character alters, and the now dusty and battered Box s tired hinges may once again open for downfall or redemption.
