

The Faith Next Door: American Christians and Their New Religious Neighbors (Hardback)

By Paul David Numrich

Oxford University Press Inc, United States, 2009. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. In 1993, 8000 representatives of the religions of the world gathered in Chicago, on the centennial of the historical 1893 World's Parliament of Religions. The objectives were to promote understanding and cooperation among religious communities and institutions and encourage the spirit of harmony and celebrate, with openness and mutual respect, the rich diversity of religions. The Parliament also raised a pressing question: How do local Christians respond when they discover that the religions of the world now reside in their town? Most of the non-Christian representatives to the first Parliament came from outside the U.S. In 1993, however, when the organizers invited the religious communities of Chicago to form host committees for the event, more than half turned out to be non-Christian: Baha'i, Buddhist, Hindu, Jain, Jewish, Muslim, Sikh and Zoroastrian. In this book, Paul Numrich presents eleven case studies of local Chicago-area Christian responses to America's changing religious landscape. Offering a broad, balanced, and sympathetic sampling, he wants to enable readers to make informed decisions about their own attitudes and strategies regarding their non-Christian neighbors. Included are Protestant, Catholic, and...
