Excerpt from Immigration and Naturalization Service Oversight: Hearing Before the Subcommittee on Immigration of the Committee on the Judiciary United States Senate One Hundred Fourth Congress The subcommittee met, pursuant to notice, at 10:18 a.m., in room SD-226, Dirksen Senate Office Building, Hon. Alan K. Simpson (chairman of the subcommittee), presiding. Also present: Senators Grassley, Kyl, Kennedy, and Feinstein. Opening Statement of Hon. Alan K. Simpson, A U.S. Senator From the State of Wyoming Senator Simpson. Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. I do apologize. I have been tooling through the forests of Northern Virginia. I saw something out there curious this morning. But the business this morning is to conduct congressional oversight of the operations of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. The Service has seen its budget increase dramatically in recent years at a time when other government agencies were taking their cuts. That is not a baseball term. Congress has clearly recognized the need for more effective enforcement of our Nation s immigration laws. The purpose today is to review INS policies and practices, to see if the public...
