Excerpt from Illustrated Book of Instruction: The Robinson System of Barber Colleges In my many years of active personal experience in the Barber trade and its co-relative branches, as Journeyman Workman, Master Barber, Chief Instructor and Manager of various Barber Colleges, I have been enabled by observation and practice to formulate and set forth the following plain, comprehensive and detailed set of rules. I feel satisfied that if carefully studied, they must be of inestimable value to the prospective student, apprentice or journeyman, in acquiring a rudimentary or primary knowledge of the essential points or features of the Tonsorial art. The many illustrations coupled with the paragraphed explanations are so plain and complete in detail as to enable the Student to thoroughly comprehend them. When supplemented by a course at one of our colleges, can not fail to make of the most mediocre pupil, a competent artist.
