Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Victory Gardens IN times OF war the country s food supply for civilians may be smaller even though total production is greatly increased. The burdens of World War II are already creating serious food - production, distribution, and preservation problems. Labor and machinery shortages interfere with production overloaded railroads and restricted motor transport interfere with distribution; and inadequate supplies of labor, steel, and tin demand that civilians depend less on foods canned in tin. There is now-real need for civilians to relieve the burden on com merciai food sources, transportation, and preservation by growing all food that is practical at home and preserving, storing, and using it over as much of the year as possible.
