Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.While working hands-on to rehabilitate monkeys and tend to a wounded wild black rhino in South Africa, studying Buddhist meditation with a monk in rural Laos, and teaching English to children in Zimbabwe, their kids managed to complete a year s math curriculum in a third of the time normally required, write research articles on HIV/AIDS in Sub-Saharan Africa, and essays on efforts to save a coral reef in remote Philippines. While their family explored New Zealand by camper van, their kids learned extensively about black holes, thermal energy and seismology. They danced with San Bush people, attended a Herero tribal wedding in Namibia, and did restoration work on an ancient house in France, all while working their ways through stacks of classic novels and non-fiction accounts of the places they were visiting. And that s not all. This book is a practical guide for traveling parents, that cover strategies for teaching math, science, English and social studies to your own children on the road, while at the same time taking full advantage of the tremendous learning opportunities that travel provides. You ll find inside these pages logistical advice, materials recommendations, and sample assignments for all age groups. In writing this book, Taryn drew from her 25-years experience as an award winning curriculum designer, college lecturer, high school teacher and stakeholder in a tutoring center in China.
