

The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 86: September 25, 1924 (Classic Reprint) (Paperback)

By David O McKay

FBC LTD, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 86: September 25, 1924 We can not think of the prison as only a place for the protection of society; we must protect ourselves against the wrong doers. That is also true. A prison is a place where you are protected against the men who have anti-social tendencies and anti-social views but the security is only for a short time. There are very few men in this country who are imprisoned for the whole term of their natural life. Most of them are coming out in five years, ten years - perhaps in twenty years the whole prison population of this country will have changed, and the men in prison now will be out again. And how are they coming out? What is your money that you have placed in prison construction doing, not only to protect society this year and next year from the men who are behind the walls, but to protect society from those men when they shall come out from behind the walls The chief object of a prison is...
