Her resemblance to my dear sister is remarkable, and endears her still more to my heart. Strange to say, my husband appears vexed whenever I refer to this resemblance, but so he does when I speak of my lost Frances, who is continually in my thoughts. I dare Say that he thinks my regret would wear away, if I less frequently made her the topic of oar conversation. Some kind motive, I feel sore, always actuates him, even when he seems displeased. I have of late often seen Doctor Bellinden, and consulted him about my husband s health, which gives me increasing uneasiness. The doctor thinks change of air absolutely necessary; bat knowing his dislike to such a measure, I suggested that were it recommended on account of my health instead of his, my husband would, I felt sure, be more disposed to adopt it. I shall utter no falsehood,...
