What is the most invasive form of government in the United States Which one can most directly mess with your life, your family every day, every moment, 24/7 The federal government That massive, indifferent bureaucracy managing labyrinthine social programs, a huge military and formidable, security agencies monitoring your phone calls, email, and texts - all for your protection Got to be the feds, right Wrong. Who governs your water purity, the number and types of pets may keep Who determines how many police and fire personnel are necessary to protect you, how many libraries you get and whether they provide free computers Who operates those tiny digital cameras monitoring your intersections Who City hall. Astonishingly powerful. Touching your life, every moment, every day. Acceptable perhaps, but only if your local government provides you quality city services, remains attentive to your needs, and works to ensure that you remain the top priority of all city operation and planning. But, what if your city hall seems unconcerned about how that power affects you What if the local government your tax money supports...
