Vander Meulen; and in the large saloon, which has a dome to it, are pictures of the Four Seasons, by Coypel and J uvenet, extremely well executed. The tapestry in the King s apartments is beautiful, of the Gobelins, and contains the history of Don Quixote wrought in a very capital manner and with the most vivid colours. The gardens are small, but more pleasingly laid out than those at Versailles. Six small square pavilions, detached from each other, stand on each side the front of the palace, and form a sort of avenue to it; at the end of which a fine piece of water appears, and two copies of statues at Rome of horses and men.-There are several other good statues here, particularly that of Time discovering Truth, which I think is by Girardot. Upon the whole, I esteem Marli a very pleasing place. The waterworks, though not so various, are in a better style than those at Versailles; and, were I to choose, I would take Marli in preference to any of the palaces I saw, though in size it certainly is not onetwentieth part so large as Versailles. The present King comes here three or four times in the year, and at some particular festivals plays at cards or dice in public. Before I quit Versailles I must take notice of the largest and finest orangery I ever saw. It is truly magnificent, both from the number and size...
