Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Shakespeare: A Biographic Aesthetic Study Nature can afford to be a spendthrift, allowing myriads of young lives to be wasted, so teeming is she with new births, so deep her store of mysterious life-germs. But does She allow any of her capital buds to be cut Off in infancy When among the survivors (who are a vast majority) we find so few prime men, men Of creative calibre, great poets, thinkers, discoverers, statesmen; when we remember that during the long Napoleonic wars but two generals earned the first rank as masters of their craft, Napoleon and Wellington; when we reflect how rare are Cavour and Washingtons, how difficult it continues to be for us to find a man eminently suited to be the head of our republic, a man able and just, watchful and scrupulous, temperate and energetic when we behold everywhere this dearth of high gifts, may we not conclude that few, if any, infants Of best promise are sacrificed at the threshold of life, and that probably the native excellence of Such involves a self-protecting vitality...

Reviews

Good electronic book and valuable one. It is one of the most incredible publication we have read through. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
