Not illustrated. 1867 Excerpt: . . . in the world the temptations of sin and Satan are in his path; but his trust being in the Lord, Satan cannot conquer him. Though he sees that he is liable to bodily suffering, that he is in a perishing world, which is ruined by sin, and among those who have submitted to the domination of Satan; nevertheless he is fully assured that he will not always be in this condition, but that, in Gods appointed time, he will be removed from this crumbling desolation, will be delivered from these sorrows and afflictions, and will go to his true home, wherein is the fulness of joy, the perfection of bliss. So he laments not that he must go hence, but awaits his change with thankfulness. (Phil. i. 23.) And Jesus Christ will, at the la9t day, raise from their graves all those who have believed...
